The BULLETIN desires to place The 12-Volume New Standard Encyclopedia In Every Home

The possession of an Encyclopedia is today a necessity. It gives full and complete information on every subject—written in words that all can understand. Knowledge is power, and the only short cut to Knowledge is through an Encyclopedia, which gives in condensed and digested form the collected wisdom of all time. If you can afford only one set of books by all means let it be the New Standard Encyclopedia. For the children it will answer every question that pops into their inquiring minds; for older people it will be a complete home university, supplying the latest and most authoritative information in every branch of learning.

It's Up To You

YOU HAVE THE SAME CHANCE
THESE MEN HAD

ABRAHAM LINCOLN at twenty-two simply knew how to read, write and cipher.

ANDREW JACKSON, President of the United States, never attended school. His wife was his only teacher. She taught him how to read and write.

HIRAM SIBLEY, formerly president of the Western Union Telegraph Company, left his father's farm at fifteen to learn a trade. After giving away millions of dollars during his lifetime, he died worth many millions more a few years ago.

PETER COOPER, whose name will ever be cherished in the hearts of the many thousands of young men and young women who have been graduated, free of expense, from the schools of Cooper Institute, himself never had more than one year's schooling.

JAMES A. GARFIELD was the youngest of four children left by his father's death to be reared by his mother from the age of infancy. He lived in a log cabin in the Ohio wilderness.

ANDREW CARNEGIE started life by working in a cotton mill, then ran an engine at a salary of twenty cents a day, next became a messenger boy for a telegraph company, when his father died, and the boy of fourteen became the sole support of his mother and younger brother.

THOMAS A. EDISON was denied the advantages of continued schooling, and at twelve years of age he became a train newsboy. While engaged on the train he learned to operate the telegraph, and began to study the system and familiarize himself with the workings of batteries, wires and instruments.

There's great men derived most of their education from an Encyclopedia. Every man and woman in the United States today has the same opportunity. You can not excuse your ignorance by claiming that you never had a chance.

FORMER PRICES PROHIBITIVE

Heretofore the best Encyclopedia have been put on the market at abnormally high figures, ranging from $100.00 to $140.00 — prices which only the very rich could afford to pay. In order to overcome this obstacle, THE SAN FRANCISCO BULLETIN made arrangements with the publishers of the "New Standard Encyclopedia" for several thousand complete sets of that famous work, which will be distributed among those who return the coupon shown below promptly, or send postal card giving name and address.

In entering upon this great educational enterprise THE SAN FRANCISCO BULLETIN simply acts as a purchasing agent for its readers. On account of our immense purchasing and distributing power we were able to secure the "New Standard Encyclopedia" at about the actual cost of manufacture. We are now distributing it by means of a great co-operative club, which entirely eliminates all middle profits. Complete sets are shipped direct from the binders to the purchasers. This shows what a great saving can be effected by co-operation.

The New Standard Encyclopedia

NEWEST AND BEST REFERENCE LIBRARY ON THE MARKET

After looking over the field carefully for an encyclopedia that would measure up to all requirements, the NEW STANDARD was selected because; in the judgment of many eminent critics and scholars, it is the best and most practical reference work that has yet been published. It is not one of those cheap, trashy affairs, rehashed from foreign sources, but a First-Class American Encyclopedia, written in a simple, clear and readable style.

For the Home

Heretofore all Encyclopedias have been designed especially for the learned scholar or professional man who desires technical information. The New Standard is entirely different in this respect. Its articles are not technical, dry or hard to read, and, while they contain all the facts, everything is presented in such a clear, interesting manner that they invite further reading. In this Encyclopedia all minute details and weighty opinions are eliminated—it gives the facts, and the facts only, in the most readable, entertaining fashion. Every member of the family will read and enjoy this kind of Encyclopedia.

900,000 Topics

The New Standard Encyclopedia contains full and complete information on every subject or human interest. Nine hundred thousand topics are included, and yet so carefully has the work been edited that it is all contained in 12 massive volumes. This is the most convenient form for an Encyclopedia. It will be used where larger and more technical works would lie untouched on the shelves. The 12 volumes contain over 60,000 articles, which are equivalent to 10,000 volumes boiled down and condensed. There are in all 8,500 pages and more than 3,000 illustrations, besides 150 double-page maps, colored plates, etc.

HOW TO GET A SET

It is impossible in this limited space to describe fully the plans and purposes of the Club and the plan of sale whereby members may have the entire library delivered to them at once, and pay for it at the rate of a few cents a day. If you are interested, write today for full particulars. Do not put it off until tomorrow; tomorrow may be too late. Only one edition has been contracted for, and when it has been distributed our obligation ceases. This Club was organized for your benefit. No one will be to blame but yourself if you do not get an Encyclopedia now, while the opportunity is here. Tear off the coupon and mail it to us today. An opportunity like this may never occur again in your lifetime.

FREE—To Those Who Apply Promptly

If you have no Encyclopedia at all, or if you have one that is old and unsatisfactory, mail the attached coupon, which, as you will note, is not an application for membership, but simply a request for information, and you will receive free of charge a beautiful booklet containing full page duogravure portraits of President Taft and ex-President Cleveland, double page maps of Japan and Korea and the new Republic of Panama, besides many beautiful colored plates, sample pages showing the text, etc. With the booklet we will send full particulars about the club. Remember, there is only one New Standard Encyclopedia. It is published by the University Society of New York. It is sold exclusively by The San Francisco Bulletin Encyclopedia Department.

From an ex-Superintendent of Schools, San Francisco.

It gives me great pleasure to indorse and recommend the New Standard Encyclopedia. It is complete and up to date. It possesses great educational value, supplementing the instruction given in school and college. I am more than pleased with my purchase. It is good, American and cheap.
